POLL A FEW VOTES.

It is a good idea to poll a few votes from time to time to let your friends know that you are working and want to win a prize. Just get in the lead and stay there for a day or two if possible, even if you have to draw on your reserves.

Hundreds of people have no personal friends in the contest and when they pay their subscriptions, they generally cast their votes for the leading candidate in their neighborhood. Thus it may clearly be seen that the leaders catch quite a scattering vote. A reserve vote is a good thing to have but the leadership is also a worthy ambition.

Until further notice, contestants will be allowed to poll a sufficient number of votes to make their standing 20,000 in advance of the leader of the preceding issue.

If there is any mistake in the count of any contestant's vote up to the present date, it must be called to the attention of the contest manager before next Wednesday night. Otherwise, the count as published today, must be taken as correct.

THE Central Record.

GOOD ROAD MAXIMS.

Maintenance, maintenance and maintenance. Your road will go to pieces without it. If the estimate is too low, then don't bid on the job. Keep away and save your money.

The improvement of a road enlarges the opportunity of those engaged in any kind of business contiguous to it. Better roads should be the slogan in every community. Get busy with your legislature for better road laws. Every state should have a well organized road association.

ROAD MAINTENANCE.

Keep the Improved Roads in Their Present Condition.

The present year promises to be the greatest in the history of the movement for the improvement of the public roads of the United States, according to the reports received from all parts of the country. A joint committee of congress is engaged in an investigation of the feasibility of federal aid in the construction, improvement and maintenance of public highways, and a number of the state legislatures now in session are considering good road legislation. In connection with the general impetus that the good road movement has recently had in all parts of the country, the director of the office of public roads says:

"Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of maintenance in connection with the work of improving the roads. The people in nearly all the states are filled with enthusiasm for road improvement and are spending enormous sums of money in the construction of superb roads, and yet almost without exception they are making little provision to care for the roads after they are built. This is true not only in the various counties, but under many of our state highway departments.

"To maintain the roads in good condition year after year requires a considerable annual outlay, but this outlay is infinitely less than the loss which must fall upon the people eventually if they allow their roads to go to utter ruin. The thing for all advocates of good roads to do is to urge continuous, systematic maintenance and the setting aside every year of an amount per mile estimated by the engineer in charge to be sufficient for the proper maintenance of the road—a course which must make for economy and efficiency."
